From the right-click menu, select installÂ .The United Nations has warned that at least one million people in Yemen could starve to death within a week if the Saudi-led coalition strikes oil fields used by Arab states to fight Yemen's Shiite rebels. Ambassador at the UN Jan Egeland said the estimate was based on new figures from the UN food agency which he called "staggering." Yemen is the poorest country in the Arab world and was already facing the specter of famine before last year's Saudi-led air campaign. The air offensive has pushed Yemen to the brink of collapse and has created the world's worst humanitarian crisis. Saudi-led airstrikes have hit facilities used to refine oil, transportation lines and even a meat market in Sanaa in just two weeks, according to the UN. Egeland said UN humanitarian agencies have been cut off from parts of the country and less than half of the more than 80% of Yemen's agricultural land that is at least moderately productive is under the government's control. "It is
